

Elector: Jim Leeke

Jim is co-founder of the Anglo-American Baseball Project (www.aabaseball.org). A former journalist, he once covered Major League Baseball for a Northern California daily newspaper, working for National Baseball Hall of Fame sportswriter Leonard Koppett. Jim is the author or editor of numerous books, including three on baseball (Ballplayers in the Great War: Newspaper Accounts of Major Leaguers in World War I Military Service; Nine Innings for the King: The Day Wartime London Stopped for Baseball, July 4, 1918; and From the Dugouts to the Trenches: Baseball during the Great War). He has contributed to NINE: A Journal of Baseball History & Culture as well as to The National Pastime and the SABR Baseball Biography Project.